Cambridge CELTA Course

If you want to work in English language teaching either in Britain or abroad, the Cambridge CELTA (Certificate in English Language Teaching to Adults) is one of the most widely recognised and well-established ELT qualifications in the world.

Our four-week, full-time course is designed as an initial training for people (including both native speakers and non-native, advanced speakers of English) with little or no experience of ELT. It is an extremely practical introduction to the theory and methodology of English Language Teaching.

We have been a centre for Cambridge CELTA courses since 1989 and have established an excellent reputation for teacher training. Over 60% of our trainees come through personal recommendation.

We offer advice on everything from initial funding for the course to how to find a job once you have qualified.

Course Teacher Trainers

The course is staffed by a team of well qualified, very experienced teacher-trainers who are in close contact with developments in the ELT field and have overseas and UK teaching and training experience. Most of our trainers are also external assessors for other Cambridge CELTA courses.

Language Studies International

LSI has 14 schools around the world and each year teaches over 10,000 students. LSI offers a wide range of programmes for adult and junior students as well as English Plus and English for Specific Purposes courses.

"My experience at LSI Brighton has been amazing, I would highly recommend it to anyone who is thinking of doing a CELTA. The tutors were an inspiration and fellow trainees were wonderful Thanks!"

Details of the Course

The course centres around gaining a total of six hours of real classroom experience, teaching multi-lingual students of English from day two onwards. As well as basic teaching skills, the syllabus also covers language awareness development, awareness of the learner, the principles of teaching, the use of appropriate resources and materials and continuing professional development.

There is also input on finding jobs and careers in English Language Teaching.

The timetable includes supervised lesson planning, six hours of supervised teaching practice, peer observation, feedback, weekly tutorial support, input sessions on the areas of the syllabus listed above and 6 hours of directed observation of experienced teachers.

Our day runs from 9am to 5pm, providing 140 hours of instruction and teaching practice.

We have courses with up to 12 trainees (a maximum of 6 trainees to one tutor, teaching at a minimum of 2 levels).

Written Assignments

During the course you have to complete some short assignments (up to an overall total of 4,000 words) on four topic areas: the learner, the classroom, language, and materials. These are spaced out over the course and you will be given clear guidelines and support.

Assessment, Certificate and Report

There is continuous and integrated assessment throughout the course which covers all aspects of the syllabus.

Assessments are validated by an external assessor appointed by the Cambridge Certificate Committee who will come to observe on one day in the second half of the course. There is no other practical or written examination.

Candidates who fulfil the necessary criteria are awarded the Cambridge Certificate with Grade A, Grade B or Pass. Results will generally be issued within one week of the end of the course and certificates sent out on receipt from Cambridge. LSI will also give each candidate a detailed report with an assessment of their individual progress, performance and potential.

Employment Opportunities

As a long established teacher-training centre, we are regularly notified of overseas teaching posts available to newly-qualified Cambridge Certificate teachers and we give details to participants on the course. We also give a session on careers advice.

In general terms there are usually UK vacancies for teaching on summer courses and these could possibly lead to continued teaching work during the year. However most trainees gain their initial experience abroad and while contracts can start at any time of the year, September and January tend to be the busier recruitment times.

"I really enjoyed the course: The tutors are extremely knowledgeable and helpful. The guidance and feedback they gave us was invaluable. Before I applied for the course, the reception staff provided me with some useful information and were very friendly."
